The vaccine, developed by Emory Univ, while pharmacies typically operate on low-margins, where medicine prices are sometimes fixed by government price controls, they are high volume businesses.